

Contents

(Review)
Nursing Education during the Meiji Period in Aomori Prefecture - Focusing on First-Aid Nurse Training at the Aomori Chapter of the Japanese Red Cross Society - Yasuko Ogushi, et al	361
(Original Papers)
The Sorrow of Max Weber (I) Tatsuro Hanyu	289
DOTS: Service extension to communities in conjunction with HIV/AIDS Control Project (JICA) in Lusaka, Zambia: A observation report Noriko Yamada	309
Diffusion of innovative practice in nursing (Part III) -Traits of Staff Nurses and Nursing Department Managers and the Trend in Innovative- Characteristics Makiko Fujimoto, et al	321
Diffusion of Innovative Practice in Nursing (Part IV) -Correlations Between the Degree of Innovative Nursing Practices and the Individual Factors- Yuka Akiba, et al	331
Diffusion of Innovative Practice in Nursing (Part V) -Correlations Between the Degree of Innovative Nursing Practices and the Organizational Factors- Chizuko Sakae, et al	341
About acceptance attitud of the GHQ instruction to the social security of occupied Japan Michiyasu Masuyama	349
Effect of yam (Dioscorea batatas) treatments on blood pressure, and renal and vascular nitric oxide synthase expression in spontaneously hypertensive rats Megumi Nozawa, et al	369
A structure of family functions in Japanese families with small children Yumiko Nakamura, et al	379
Diffusion of Innovative Practice in Nursing (Part VI) -Correlations Between the Degree of Innovative Nursing Practices and Innovative Characteristics- Mayumi Sato, et al	391
The History of Nursing Education in Aomori Prefecture (Part1) -Survey on the Profiles of Basic Nursing Education Institutions and the Preservation of Archives- Hiromi Tanaka, et al	401
(Articles)
Internationalisation in the Japanese Education System Division of Human Sciences Scott Vesty	315
(Event and Meeting)
The 3rd Academic Meeting of Aomori University of Health and Welfare Instruction to Authors	465
A Postscript by the Editor	