

(Original Paper)

| | |
|---|----|
| Measurement of Distance between Spinous Processes of the Lumbar Spine - Assessment of Interrater Reliability, Concurrent Validity by Comparison between Palpation and Ultrasonograms - | 1 |
| Shuichi Sato | 1 |
| The source of the social security thought-Through the description of the Bible and Mahayanist Buddhism scriptures | 5 |
| Michiyasu Masuyama | 5 |
| The outcome of the psychiatric home nursing at that the mentally-handicapped persons of community mentally nurses at recognizes | 27 |
| Hirohide Fujii, et al | 27 |
| An Application of an Objective Structured Clinical Examination for Learning Skills in Assessment of Physical Therapy - A Task Involving Measurements on the Range of Motion Test - | 35 |
| Chikako Fujita, et al | 35 |

(Notes)

| | |
|--|----|
| The Learning of Volunteer in Life-long Learning Activities of People with Intellectual Disabilities | 17 |
| Naoko Hiromori, et al | 17 |
| Nursing care using forensic nursing approach for achieving sexuality-related health: Lessons learnt from Kenyan medical and nursing care guidelines on sexual violence victims. | 43 |
| Noriko Yamada | 43 |

(Special Issues)

| | |
|--|----|
| Evidence for health and welfare practices that originated in Aomori - A framework of evidence - | 51 |
| Takao Suzuki | 51 |
| Nobuo Yoshiike | 53 |
| Hiroyasu Iwatsuki | 59 |
| Noriko Mikami | 63 |
| Kazuo Onishi | 67 |
| Reports of short-term overseas studies | 71 |

(Event and Meeting)

| | |
|---|-----|
| The 6th Academic Meeting of Aomori University of Health and Welfare | 75 |
| Instruction to Authors | 137 |
| A Postscript by the Editor | |